A. H. FRANCIS,

FOR many years a Merchant in Portland, has opened a Commission House in Victoria, V. I., for the sale of all kinds of flour, grain, bacon, butter eggs, apples, &c., &c. All those having such articles to dispose of, and are desirous of turning them speedily into cash, at fair rates, will be accommodated by shipping to A. H. F., Victoria, V. I. My well known reputation as a merchant in Portland, and my acquaintance and large trade in Victoria since 1850, will, I venture to say, be sufficient guarantee that every attention to quick and safe sales, and prompt remittances, subject to the order of the consignees, will be strictly adhered to. My business shall be strictly CASH. I would recommend shippers to ship the best quality of articles.

A Review of the Field

Our readers of course have kept an eye on the controversy that has been going on between the OREGONIAN and the Herald concerning certain persons and events in the early days of the Republic. As the Herald has now moved its base and taken up a new position, involving new actors and events it will be useful to sum up the results before entirely dismissing the subject.

At the outset that paper charged that Burr was the candidate of the Federal party for the Presidency in 1801 and that the Federalists supported him as their candidate, notwithstanding they knew him to be a "bold, bad man," and also that, at the same time, the Federalists concocted a conspiracy to seize the Government and put a man of their own choice in the Executive office regardless of the public will, and the forms of law. In support of the first charge, it relied upon its own assertion and in proof of the second it quoted Jefferson's letter to Monroe.

In reply we showed conclusively that Burr was not the Federal candidate, but a candidate of the Democrats, with whom he had steadily acted. That after the election came into the House, the Federalists being compelled to make a choice of evils, voted for Burr instead of Jefferson—being restricted in the choice to their Democratic candidates. That Burr was then the peer of Jefferson in public esteem, both of them being regarded with distrust by the party which had founded the Government and controlled it to that time, and that Jefferson, up to this election, was intimate with Burr and trusted and corresponded with with him as one of the ablest, best and most trustworthy men in his new party.

As to the second charge, it rested soley on Jefferson's veracity and means of knowledge. We showed that Jefferson had no means of knowing whether the charge was true or false, that when speaking of the motives and purposes of his political opponents he was in the constant habit of falsifying and exaggerating, and was therefore unworthy of credit. We also showed the testimony of Baer, of Maryland, and Bayard, of Delaware, members of the Federal party and the Senate in 1801, that no such conspiracy or purpose as Jefferson charged had ever been formed or considered by the Federal party, and that it was the intention from the first that one of the two, Burr or Jefferson should be elected President.

The Herald then abandoned its original charges saying in substance that it would not undertake to defend Jefferson's character. Yet his character for veracity was the point in issue, made so by that paper when it brought forth this charge of a "conspiracy," and triumphantly asserted that the truth of it depended on Jefferson's character for veracity, which could not be affected by the denial of "a nameless writer in the OREGONIAN." We accepted the issue thus tendered, and by the best of evidence have shown the gross improbability of the charge, and that independently of this ground of disbelief, no such charge could be believed for a moment upon the unsupported word of such an habitual slanderer and detractor of his political opponents.

So far, we have driven the Herald from every position, and in every instance, have established our own. Our adversary has abandoned the field and taken up a line of retreat toward the Hartford Convention. There he hopes to make a stand and get his breath. This bugaboo, with which he has so long been in the habit of keeping the Democratic sucklings quiet and tractable, just as the French mothers used to frighten their children into silence with the name of Marlborough is his last chance. If the Hartford Convention was not a conspiracy most foul, then the Herald must eschew history and return to the defamation of "New Radical Senators." It would not be hazardous to predict that it will succeed no better with its present undertaking than it did in its endeavor to substantiate the calumny originated by Jefferson.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON

FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON, D C, Dec 23 1866

Just before the adjournment of Congress for the holidays Mr Henderson succeeded in getting the House to pass the bill allowing the State of Oregon the right to take alternate sections on each side of the Central road for six miles instead of three—the former limit—where the lands have been previously sold to settlers. This having already passed the Senate will now become a law as soon as it is signed by the President. He also succeeded in getting a bill through the House granting a similar right to the State in building the road from Dalles to Boise via Canyon City, Mormon Basin and Camp Watson. Considering the strong prejudices against granting the public lands for such purposes entertained by eastern members, this is quite an achievement for Mr Henderson. Yet it cost him much hard work, since it required an explanation to almost every individual member before he would vote—for it is not the habit of the House to permit a new member to make an explanation to the whole House. The latter bill will doubtless pass the Senate without serious opposition. Mr Williams' popularity with the Senate is sufficient to carry it through. In this connection I may say that Mr Williams is now universally regarded here as one of the leading working Senators. This added to his uprightness, thoroughness and dignity of character and demeanor, has made him popular both in Congress and among the leading men of the country. While a majority of the Senators and members are absent at the present time, having merry Christmas and happy New Year, he is constantly at work attending from one to three committee meetings a day—meetings of the Committee on Finance, Claims, Retrenchment and Contingent expenses of the Senate—his own committee. So far he has not been absent from his seat during *the session of the Senate, nor has he failed to at*tend a committee meeting. Last Sunday he went to New York to attend a meeting to raise money to endow the Pacific University at Forest Grove—as I wrote in my last. The following report appeared in the New York Herald of the 17th inst.

"Taking into consideration the inclement state of the weather last evening a large audience assembled in Madison Presbyterian Church to hear and consider the subject of collegiate education in Oregon. Among the gentlemen present to address the meeting were the Rev Drs Adams Hitchcock, and Hopkins, of this city the Hon Geo H Williams, United States Senator from Oregon and Dr Marsh, President of the Pacific University in Oregon, on behalf of which an appeal was made. After the commencement of the usual evening service, the Rev Dr Adams pastor of the church, briefly addressed the congregation. He said he felt assured, had the weather permitted, a much larger congregation would have assembled to hear the statements of their friends present with reference to the State of Oregon. A peculiar interest was attached to this State, in its relation to Christian brotherhood, and it had peculiar claims upon our sympathies while just emerging from its infancy. Thirty years ago, but for the energy and forethought of the American missionaries, it was in imminent danger of becoming a portion of British territory. During the administration of President Tyler it was about to be ceded to the Hudson Bay Company, that corporation having insidiously misrepresented its value and resources. The Rev Mr Spaulding and Dr Whitman, missionaries who, from long residence in the Territory, had a thorough knowledge of its resources saw the magnitude of its value to the United States and determined to prevent the iniquitous sacrifice. Dr Whitman journeyed to Washington, saw Mr Webster then Secretary of State, and thus by his energy pluck and fidelity, saved to us the great State of Oregon. The reverend pastor then introduced to the congregation Dr Marsh, President of Pacific University, Oregon, son of the Rev Dr Marsh of Vermont.

Dr Marsh, in a short but earnest appeal pressed upon the attention of his audience the urgent need of educational facilities within the sphere of his labors. The advancement of the interests of the new territories he contended were part and parcel of the progress of the whole country and while helping and serving them by the exercise of benevolence, the Eastern churches and Christians were in reality equally serving themselves. He said that little difficulty was experienced in getting subscriptions to their railroad stock and other commercial enterprises, and there should be none in obtaining aid for colleges—institutions that would awaken powers of self help and progress and which had ever been held as the true organization from which sprung all the elements of growth and social advancement.

The Hon Mr Williams United States Senator from Oregon then addressed the congregation. He said he had been invited by the President of the college to join in commending the Institution to the benevolence of his hearers. This he most cordially did. The honorable gentleman then proceeded to give a concise and practical account of his State and her resources. He said that he knew of between thirty and forty thousand boys and girls needing increased facilities for education. He gave an interesting description of the present condition of the masses of the population, mentioning in particular the large influx of returned Confederate soldiers most of whom had been of General Price's command, men of gross habits of life and a dangerous element. Mr Williams eloquently urged the necessity for education among his people, in a remarkably practical and interesting address. It being nearly half past nine Drs Hopkins and Hitchcock briefly addressed the meeting in endorsement of the previous speakers, closing with the doxology and benediction."

Mr Williams introduced into the Senate the following resolution on the 13th inst, and made the remarks following:

IMMIGRATION OF CHINESE

Mr Williams submitted the following resolution:

Resolved That the Committee on Foreign Relations be instructed to inquire into the expediency of regulating or restricting the immigration and importation of Chinese into the United States.

The Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr Williams—Mr. President, I offer this resolution at this time with the view of calling the attention of Congress and the country to the subject to which it refers. Since the first discovery of gold in California the Chinese in considerable numbers have immigrated to the Pacific coast. They come there not to be citizens of the country, not to learn to speak our language, to profess our religion, to adopt our customs, manners and habits, but they come there to be a people unto themselves so to maintain their attachment to the religions and the Government under which they were born.

I do not undertake to say that any particular harm has yet resulted from their presence on the Pacific coast but new facilities for their immigration have recently been created, and no doubt will be increased, and some great inducement may arise which will pour clouds of Chinese from the millions who inhabit the country where they now live upon the Pacific coast like locusts upon the land of Egypt. I think that it is not safe to despise "the day of small things" in reference to this matter and it is much easier now to deal with the subject than it will be when it assumes more formidable proportions. I hope, therefore, that the committee will give the subject that attention which its importance seems to demand.

The resolution was agreed to.

On the same day he also introduced the following bills, the proceedings in reference to which are thus described in the Congressional Globe.

Mr Williams asked, and by unanimous consent obtained, leave to introduce the following bills, which were severally read twice by their titles, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

A bill (S No 481) granting lands to the State of Oregon, to aid in the construction of a military road and telegraph line through the coast mountains from Portland to Astoria, and

A bill (S. No 482) granting lands to the State of Oregon to aid in the construction of a military and post road through the coast mountains from Astoria to Tillamook.

At a meeting of the Finance Committee held on the 21st, Mr Williams took strong ground in favor of a tariff on wool. This he regards as a benefit to the country at large and particularly to the wool growing and manufacturing interests of Oregon. Those having wool on hand now would do well to hold it in their possession, since the adoption of this measure will greatly enhance its price in a very short time.

Mr Henderson will be engaged in business relating to Oregon in this city during the holidays—though he contemplates a short visit to Richmond during that time. The Indian Committee of the House—of which he is a member—are now engaged in overhauling the affairs of the Indian Bureau. Mr Kincaid of Eugene City will accompany Mr Henderson to Richmond. Senator Nesmith has gone to Cincinnati to spend his Christmas and New Year. He is expected to start home to Oregon in February, when he will engage in farming on an extensive scale, having already sent home a large number of reapers, plows threshers harness and other agricultural implements. Mr Nesmith has the reputation here of being an industrious Senator, and he will not become lax in his work as his term approaches its termination. Mrs Nesmith will not come here this winter, but will remain at their home at College Hill, Ohio, near Cincinnati, till they are ready to sail for Oregon. His children are going to school at that place.

In speaking of the bills granting lands in aid of roads in Oregon I should mention that the bill providing for a railroad from Salt lake to the Columbia river, which passed the Senate last winter, has been in the hands of the Committee on Public Lands of the House, the Chairman of which agreed to report it to the House before the holidays with a recommendation that it should pass, but for some reason it has been kept back, although both Henderson and Williams, as well as Nesmith have been pushing it along as much as possible. It will doubtless pass before the close of the session though it will take time. Opposition to such measures is steadily increasing in Congress. A large number of Senators and members are wholly ignorant of the nature of the country through which the western roads pass, which increases the difficulties of getting anything of the kind through. These men cannot be made to see that it opens a great country and makes it valuable, much of which is of no value without it.

The commission adjusting the Hudson Bay and Puget Sound Agricultural Companies claims are still grinding away taking testimony and putting the matter in shape. They will go to Charlotte, North Carolina in a few days to take the testimony of Admiral Wilkes.

Gen Ingalls left here a few days since for New York to spend the holidays. He will assume command of the Quartermaster's Department of the Eastern Military District, with his headquarters in New York, sometime in January or February next.

Col Stumbarger is still here awaiting his confirmation as a Paymaster in the regular army with the rank of Major.

L A Luthrop of Roseburg County Clerk of Douglas county is here on a visit. He goes in a few days to New York where his family are visiting friends. He will visit friends in Iowa before he returns to Oregon next spring. Holbrook and Murphy, of Idaho are spending the holidays in Ohio near Cleveland. Murphy is a candidate for Governor of Idaho and has a very formidable rival in Ben Tom Betts of Idaho formerly of California. They both belong to the sporting fraternity and manage to have considerable favor with the administration but it is amusing to hear their charges and sneers against each other. Holbrook sustains the former. Neither one can possibly win.

It may be interesting to J. Carey Geer, Collector of revenue in Idaho to learn that Holbrook, the delegate of Idaho has charged him with being an outlaw and belonging to a band of outlaws and that his brother belonged to the same band. On three charges the Secretary removed him, and appointed one George F Thatcher, of Idaho in his place and when the Secretary came to know the facts, he requested Senator Williams to ventilate the matter in the Senate and reject Thatcher, which would leave Geer in Office.

Yours truly, DOGBERRY

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—The P. M. S. S Golden Age, which left Panama January 19th, where she connected with the Henry Chauncey from New York, January 11th, arrived here this morning. Among her passengers are Mr Mumford and Mr Gamble. The former was lately elected President of the California State Telegraph Company, and the latter Superintendent of the same company.

By steamer Golden Age we have Central American dates of January 19th. A representative from the house of Herra & San Pejeao, of Havana, had arrived at Guatemala with the object of contracting with that Government for establishing a line of steamers between the Central American coast and the Island of Cuba.

The Government of Honduras through their representatives in Paris, have entered into a contract with the French Government for the construction of an Interoceanic railway across that Republic.

This morning at five o clock the schooner Johnson, while lying at anchor on the bar was run into by the steamer Golden Age, the latter striking the schooner on the port bow, cutting her down to about six inches from the water's edge, and into the deck about three feet. A boat from the steamer came alongside and assisted in throwing overboard about 800 sacks of potatoes to lighten the Johnson so as to keep her from sinking. The schooner was towed up to the city by the steamer. Gold was selling in New York yesterday at 135½@36 sterling 105¾ @106⅛. Legal Tenders are in moderate request at 73½ buying and 74½ selling.

HOW MOSAICS ARE MADE.—A correspondent of the Morning Star, describing sight-seeing in Rome says:

"But the mosaics seem to absorb the most time and money, in the least space, unless it be solid gold decorations. We saw a table last week no less than sixty feet in diameter, requiring the labor of a large number of men fifteen years. Upon entering the hall where this kind of work is done, I could not doubt these enormous figures. Suppose, for instance, a thousand of the hardest and most expensive kinds of stone, which will take on a high polish, to be cut into pieces about three eighths of an inch thick. These pieces are cut the other way into small pieces like shoe pegs, and where the shadings from one color to another is sudden these pegs must not be larger than a needle. Now the artist cuts and puts in these pieces, selected according to their color, so as to give the coloring wanted as though painted. These pieces or pegs must be tied so closely that lines of separation will not show, and set upon end, side by side, like type. They claim that ten thousand different shades of color are necessary, and in order to do this kind of work, a man must be skilled in colors to place the colors properly, and then be the most accurate of mechanics in order to fit the pieces, and then he must have pa*tience enough to work upon the cheapest* and coarsest pictures one year, and upon a fine one from ten to twenty years. I am told that the Pope has offered fifty thousand dollars for a portrait of John the Baptist, less than life."

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 6, 1867

A $50,000 "Conspiracy."

In reply to the "startling disclosures" which the Democratic organ of this city is making in regard to "Federal party conspiracies" we now come to consider the story told by John Henry an Irish adventurer, who alleged that in 1809, he had been engaged as an accredited agent of the British Government in negotiations with the leading men of New England, to bring about a dissolution of the Union, and an alliance of the Eastern States with Great Britain.

About the beginning of the last war with England, Henry in connexion with a French impostor who styled himself Le Comte de Crillon, repaired to Washington and informed President Madison that the same Federalists of New England, whom John Quincy Adams had accused of opening negotiations for an alliance with Great Britain four years before, had not yet quite completed their traitorous project, but were at that moment engaged in negotiating through him with the Canadian and British Governments. As Henry was a different man from John Quincy Adams in that he modestly preferred cash to office, he was paid by Madison for his disclosures, fifty thousand dollars, out of the funds of the people of the United States,—thus realizing a handsome fortune from the sale of the very same slander which Adams had sold before.

Having thus shown that this disclosure bore a mercenary brand on its front, and that it was evidently prepared and soled for the money it would bring, we may now proceed to consider the circumstances of the case and the character of the two men who told this story as the divulgation of a terrible plot against the Government.

Henry, according to his own story, had attracted the notice of Sir James Craig, the Governor of Canada by publishing a series of violent articles in a newspaper against republican government. Craig accordingly sought him out and sent him to Boston to ascertain the temper of the people there towards the Federal Government, and to learn whether they would be disposed to enter into an alliance with Great Britain. He reached Boston in March, 1809, and remained there about three months, spending most of his time in the brothels and other low haunts of the city. During this period he wrote fourteen letters to Craig in which he expatiated at length on the discontent of the people with the odious and ruinous embargo system. He stated that the idea of withdrawing from the Union was a very unpopular one, and would not be thought of if it could possibly be avoided. He mentioned no names whatever, and did not even make himself known to the British consul at Boston. Craig recalled him; he went to England and applied for pay for his services, but the ministry scouted the idea of paying for such information as he brought, and Henry had to return. He now conceived a new idea. He went to Boston again in company with "Count" Crillon, waited on Governor Gerry, the Democratic Executive of that State, told him that he had important information for the Government, received a letter of introduction from the Governor to President Madison, proceeded to Washington and sold his secret for the great sum before mentioned, and instantly sailed for Europe, having succeeded beyond all expectation in his transaction.

The celebrated "Count" Crillon who accompanied him and probably shared the profits of the enterprise, was proven at the time to be an impostor, as he afterwards turned out to be a swindler. The French Minister at Washington to whom the soi disant Count made application to establish his character, refused to receive him, as he knew nothing of any such person, and rightly supposed him to be a mere unprincipled adventurer assuming a character which was not his own.

But President Madison and the Democratic party, driven to desperate straits by their insane policy, eagerly welcomed this new revelation. They believed, or pretended to believe, the story of these adventurers, and endeavored to make the most of it. But it availed them nothing, and presently brought them into ridicule.

The President laid Henry's communications before Congress (taking care, however, to avoid stating how much he had paid for them,—a precaution which we observe the Herald has imitated,) prefacing the terrible documents with a letter charging disaffected persons in the Eastern States with a design of "destroying the Union and forming a political connection with Great Britain." No names were given, no facts were stated. Henry's own speculations proved the sum total of the alarming intelligence. The Federalists everywhere denied any knowledge of a disunion project, and indignantly called on the President for proof of the charges he had made. Mr. Madison was obliged to confess that he had none, and the fearful plot ended in an explosion of laughter at the expense of the Administration.

It was expected that the story of the "conspiracy" would have a powerful effect on the elections in favor of the Democrats, but that hope also failed. The people of the States of which the Administration party desired to obtain control, refused to credit the story by which Madison had been humbugged, and with which he now in turn tried to humbug them. So the whole scheme was a failure so far as the Democrats were concerned, but John Henry and "Count" Crillon gained very handsomely by it, as they had set out to do.

This story, which has long since ceased to be mentioned by sensible people of any party, except with derision, the Herald revives and parades before its readers as furnishing overwhelming evidence of the disloyalty of the "anti Democratic party!" Its editor evidently supposes he is revealing something new to the people of Oregon—something which has never yet been, and which never can be refuted. Does he, in his earnest simplicity, expect to prove a clumsy fiction true that was exploded more than a half a century ago?

In paying fifty thousand dollars for this conspiracy, the Democrats, as they soon discovered, did not get the worth of the people's money. The latter were swindled and the former were "sold."

THE NEW ORLEANS RIOT.—The Congressional Investigating Committee have examined 160 witnesses, 50 of whom were selected by a committee of citizens. The testimony when written will make 2,000 pages of legal cap.

Nearly all the burnt district of Richmond has been rebuilt in a style much finer than before.

STATE ITEMS.

The officers of the Linn County Agricultural Association, for the ensuing year are: President, A. Hackleman; Vice President, Calvin Burkhart; Secretary, Jas Elkins; Treasurer, Joseph Nixon; Directors, David Froman, Squire Montgomery, Jesse Parrish, Martin Luper and Jacob Norcross.

The Democrat says: The Board of Trustees of the Albany College met on the 24th ult., at the County Court room, and organized. Judge Geary was chosen President of the Board, John Conner Secretary, and Delmas Beach Treasurer. The intention is to place a building of adequate capacity, for the present educational wants, under contract at an early day, and it is believed that the school will be in successful operation by next fall.

The following statistics of Linn county are published: During the year 1866 one hundred and seventy three marriage licenses were issued in Linn county, and in the same time seven divorces were granted. The number of deeds recorded in Linn county in 1866 is six hundred—expressing a consideration, in the aggregate of $404 445. In other words, property to the amount of about half a million of dollars changed hands in this county last year.

Nelson Parsons, the expressman who was supposed to be lost in the snow on the Granite Creek trail has arrived safely at Umatilla. The party that accompanied him, as well as himself, says the Press, had a very rough time and came very near perishing for want of subsistence. The entire party were thirty two hours without food, and were unable to travel at a greater rate of speed than eight miles in seven hours.

The Umatilla Press seems to be disappointed that there has been no freezing weather at that point. They will have no ice during the coming summer.

Mr Harris of New York from the Judiciary Committee reported a resolution to pay the Senators from Tennessee compensation, to be computed from the commencement of the 39th Congress.

Mr Trumbull of Ill said the Senators from Tennessee are entitled to compensation from the date of their admission but to pay them from the commencement would be to admit that Tennessee was entitled to representation all along.

On motion of Wilson of Mass., the resolution was postponed till to-morrow.

Williams of Oregon introduced a bill which was referred, providing that whereas the pretended State governments of the late Confederate States were set up without authority from Congress, therefore they have no constitutional validity; therefore each of said States shall constitute a military district, subject to the military authorities.

Washington News.

NEW YORK, Feb 5.—The Herald's special says: It is definitely settled that articles of impeachment will be presented by the House at an early day. The Senate will not take them up for trial until next session.

The Tribune's special says: The next Congress will report a bill for a provincial government for Louisiana, the Governor and Legislative Council to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, to hold office for one year and to be superceded by a provisional government, elected without distinction of race. The leaders in the rebellion are to be excluded from office and from franchise, the government to have a delegate in Congress, and all acts to be approved by Congress, a convention to frame a constitution and apply for representation, to be elected by loyal people.

It is reported that Sheridan will be sent to the plains to conduct the Indian war.

The loan certificate proposition is approved by McCulloch, Fessenden and Sherman. The opposition in both Houses is slight.

The monthly statement of the public debt will not make as favorable a showing as its predecessor.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4.—The Judiciary Committee have done nothing in the impeachment matter except conferring with several gentlemen informally and this has been done by judicial members at the request of Mr Ashley, in order to see how much prospect there is to sustain the charge.

The Senate has requested the President to return the nomination of the following persons recently rejected: Gen Bassel Longdon, Assessor of the 1st district of Ohio, and John W Byle, Associate Judge of Dacotah Territory.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The Pacific Railroad is not represented among lobbyists who are seeking to evade the law compelling the use of American iron. A bill has been introduced in the House to authorize the construction of a telegraph from the Colorado river to the Central Pacific Railroad.

It is understood that Senator Guthrie of Kentucky will soon resign.

NEW YORK, Feb 5.—A lot 300 feet square on the corner of Fifth and Mission streets, San Francisco, was purchased as a site for a Mint by the Secretary of the Treasury for $100,000 in coin. The plans for the building have already been approved. The extreme length is 220 feet, the breadth, 160 feet, and the cost, $600,000. The work will be commenced as soon as California cedes jurisdiction. The money for mint plat has been paid for; the site was selected last September by Gen Bidle.

John Jay Knox has been approved by the California delegation.

The Senate finance committee will probably report to day McCulloch's scheme, framed jointly with the national banks, providing for the issue within 4 per cent. of the loan certificates. The House ways and means committee will oppose the scheme but it will probably pass.

The House ways and means committee is expected to report against the reduction of the whisky tax.

The naval committee are in favor of the removal of the naval academy from Annapolis because of the secession spirit prevailing there. New London will probably be the site.

Gen. Dix, if rejected, will be succeeded by Senator Foster probably, or ex-Gov Andrews.

The Vienna consulate has been tendered to Gen King.

The World's special says the Southern Governors reconstruction plan proposes the disfranchisement of prominent rebels.

The Times' special says that Thad Stevens and Ashley emphatically deny the alleged wish to impeach Gen Grant. Ashley denies that Butler had any part in framing his resolutions.

In the Supreme Court yesterday, in the case of the steamer Moses Taylor vs Hammons, judgment was reversed and the cause remanded with directions to dismiss the action. Simple vs Haley, cause dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

The Tribune's special re-affirms the statement of the action of the President and Southern Governors about reconstruction. Georgia and South Carolina are expected to lead off by the passage of resolutions.

Long Bridge, on the east branch of the Potomac river was swept away by the breaking up of the ice this morning. Southern railroad communication is suspended.

The President for Impartial Suffrage.

NEW YORK, Feb 4.—The World's special says: An important consultation of the President and Cabinet with leading Southerners ended on Saturday in an agreement on a series of resolutions in favor of suffrage based on reading, writing and property qualification of $250 which will be submitted to the Southern Legislatures and pave the way for the submission of the question in the President's message to Fortieth Congress, the approving resolutions. Amnesty is not an essential feature apparently, in the plan. Governor Orr has left to submit the plan to the Legislature of South Carolina. Telegrams have been sent to Governors of North Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi requesting their co operation.

The Times' special says: A majority of the Reconstruction Committee have agreed on a plan which if adopted by Congress will be acceptable to the South and will speedily settle the question. Leading Southerners give assurance that their constituents will at once comply.

The President's Proposition.

NEW YORK Feb 5.—The Times special says, the following is the amendment to the Constitution, proposed by the President: Article 1, Sec. 1. No State has a right to secede nor the Federal Government a right to eject a State or deprive it of representation in Congress. Sec. 2. The United States debt shall be held sacred and inviolate. The rebel debt shall not be paid by the Nation nor by any State. Sec. 3. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to its jurisdiction shall be citizens and shall have the rights and immunities of citizens of all the States. The enjoyment of life, liberty and property are guaranteed. Sec. 4. Representation shall be based on numbers, counting all persons except Indians not taxed; but when a State excludes any of its population on account of race or color, from voting, then those excluded shall not be counted in the basis of representation.

The following is proposed to be inserted in the Constitution of each State: Every male citizen, having resided a year in the State, and six months preceding an election, and who can read the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States in the English language and owns $250 worth of taxable property shall be entitled to vote, provided that no person who has heretofore voted shall be excluded from voting.

Freedmen's Bureau Affairs.

NEW YORK, Feb 5.—At Galveston Gen Griffin issued an order empowering the military officers where there are no Sub Commissioners of the Bureau, to act as such. This extends the operations of the Bureau over the entire State.

Indian Matters.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4.—The official communication of the Secretary of War to Congress concerning Commissioner Bogy's order to Butterfield and other Indian agents, confirming their right to sell the Indians arms and munitions includes letters from Generals Sherman, Grant and others protesting in strong language against this practice. Sherman says in a letter to Hancock: The military are responsible for the peace of the frontier and it is absurd to attempt to preserve it if Indian agents and traders can legalize and encourage so dangerous a traffic. I regard the enclosed paper addressed to D. A. Butterfield, and signed by Charles Bogy, J. H. Leavenworth and others as an outrage upon our rights in the supervision of matters and I now authorize you to disregard that paper and stop the practice. If Indian agents may without limit supply the Indians with arms I would not expose our troops and trains to them at all but would withdraw our troops who have already a herculean task in their hands.

Grant says: Bogy's action shows the necessity for the immediate transfer of the Indian Bureau to the War Department and the abolition of civil Indian Agents and licensed traders. If the present practice is to be continued I do not see any course left open to us but to withdraw our troops to the settlements and call upon Congress to provide means and troops to carry on formidable hostilities against the Indians until the Indians or whites of the great plains and between the settlements on the Missouri and the Pacific slope are exterminated. If the course Sherman has followed in disregarding the arrangements of Bogy is justified I will instruct him to enforce his order until it is countermanded by the President or yourself. I would respectfully ask that this matter be placed before the President and his disapproval of licensing the sale of arms to Indians asked. If the rule is to be followed that all tribes with whom we have treaties and to whom we pay annuities, can procure such articles without stint [illegible] will [illegible] they will [illegible] either by making treaties [illegible] through the tribes who have [illegible].

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 4.—The following letter is authentic and based upon official information:

Consulate of the Republic of Mexico, San Francisco, January 28, 1867.—My object in addressing you this note is to inform you of the victories won by the Mexican national troops over the French and Mexican traitors. The consequence is that the very important States of Jualasco, San Luis Potosi, Galajao, Seratis and Aguascalientes have all returned to the allegiance of the Republican Government and that the foreign invaders are reduced to the cities on the military road from the city of Mexico to the sea port of Vera Cruz. Under date of the 12th inst President Juarez gave me notice of the arrest of Generals Gonzales, Ortega and Patone by order of the Government of the State of Seactes. The prisoners had been sent to headquarters under a good escort. The arrest of the principal leader of the faction which has sprung up in the Liberal party will greatly facilitate the complete and final triumph of the cause of Mexican liberty and independence. President Juarez also informs me that the Executive was to leave Durango on the 14th inst for Seacates, at which place great preparations were being made for a public reception. The Governor would only remain a few days and then proceed to San Luis Potosi or Guadalajara, as deemed most proper. It is anticipated that the Executive will be re-installed in the course of next March.

Well aware of the strong sympathy you possess for the Republican cause of Mexico I thought to bring these important events to your knowledge and doubt not they will be received with interest, and for that reason I present to you the assurance of my most distinguished esteem and consideration. [Signed] JOSE A GORLOY

To His Excellency Frederick F. Low, Governor of the State of California, Secretary, and to Gen. McDowell, Chief Commander of the Department of California, San Francisco.

Judge Cowles to day ordered the commitment to issue in the case of Peter D. Reilly, the defaulting Gold Hill agent of Wells, Fargo & Co., so that he will be taken to the State Prison without further delay.

The certificate of incorporation of the Gulf of California Steam Navigation Company was filed with the County Clerk to-day. The Company proposes to navigate the Gulf of California with steamers and to convey passengers and freight between Guaymas and the anchorage at and about Punta Reyes. The capital stock is $240 000. Trustees: J. H. O'Brien, A. Lomolt, T. H. Lues, D. A. McDonald, J. W. Farrow and Wm Corcoran.

General Sullivan has resigned the position of United States Commissioner and J. B. O. Wheeler, formerly clerk of the United States District Court for the Southern District of California, has been appointed in his place.

The British ship Shah Jehan while leaving port yesterday afternoon got on the rocks inside Point Lobos near the Mile Rock and will probably prove a total loss.

It seems that 10 boxes of tobacco and 4 cases of brandy were seized on the 28th of January by Collector Welter on the charge of being smuggled ashore from the Shah Jehan, which arrived on 16th of January from Victoria. On Saturday the Captain and Mate of the ship were arrested as being implicated in the smuggling and the consignees of the vessel fearing that she might be seized and detained sent her to sea yesterday in advance of her expected time of sailing. Her running gear was in such bad order that she parted mizzen and foretopsail and then in going down the harbor her [illegible] split, which caused her to miss stays and get on the rocks. She was an old ship and was bound to Puget Sound for a cargo of lumber. The crew were taken off soon after she got on the rocks. Value of ship $1 000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 5.—A private letter from Hon John Conness on Saturday last, states that all the appointments to the regular army credited to the Pacific coast have been made. There are five gentlemen commissioned who have not heretofore been [illegible]. Among these is Harlow Street, of Tuolumne county, formerly an officer of the 2d California Cavalry. The others are at present unknown.

The Shah Jehan which was ashore on the rocks near Point Lobos went to pieces some time during last night. The destruction was so complete that this morning the wreck had entirely disappeared from sight.

Gold in New York [illegible]. Legal Tenders are moderate at [illegible]. Private telegrams of this morning quote gold in New York at 1[illegible].

The New York World has ceased to have anything to say about the "Rump Congress." It has dropped the term evidently concluding that it is of little advantage to its party to continue the use of it.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax and Gen. O. O. Howard have been proposed as the Republican Union candidates for the Presidency and Vice Presidency. Not a bad ticket either.

SUCCESSFUL BURGLARY—STOWELL, CHAMBERLAIN & CO'S SAFE BLOWN OPEN AND ROBBED.—Our town was startled on Friday morning by the discovery of a great burglary in the Banking Office of Messrs Stowell Chamberlain & Co. The safe was a double one made by Lewis Lillie & Son, of the largest size weighing many thousand pounds. The burglars effected an entrance into the office by prying open one of the windows with a jimmy. In the lower left hand corner of the right hand outer door of the safe, which was two inches thick, a hole was drilled through which powder was introduced. It was blown open separating the outside from the bolts and inside casing, rendering it a complete wreck. The lower hinges of both doors were broken off. They next attacked the inside safe which was two feet high, extending the width and depth of the inside of the main safe. This safe was one and a half inches thick, made with folding doors. They drilled another hole through the right hand door in nearly the same spot they had on the outside safe blowing open both doors. This gave them access to the money and bonds amounting to twenty five thousand dollars which they carried off. The larger portion of this belonged to special depositors. They also took valuable papers belonging to the firm, leaving in their flight a bag of gold and silver, also a hundred dollar bill. This safe was made to order by Mr Lillie of chilled iron, and was supposed to be burglar proof, as it was a double safe, one inside the other, with Lillie's combination locks on the outside and inside doors. No trace of the burglars has been discovered. They came well prepared with jimmies, drills, gunpowder &c. The clerk of the bank did not leave there until twelve o'clock at night. The explosion was heard about four in the morning showing they were expeditious in their work. feb1d1m

LAW AND LAWYERS.—Mr S J McCormick publisher has laid up on our table a pamphlet copy of Judge Deady's lecture, delivered before the Portland Law Association, December 2 1866 on the subject of "Law and Lawyers" A cursory examination of the lecture, such only as we have been able to give it, hardly suffices as the base of an opinion as to its merits but we may say that it is written in that easy readable style for which the Judge is somewhat celebrated and very judiciously adapted in its advisory passages to the correction of certain errors into which young lawyers are more than apt to fall The greater portion of it is devoted to the subject of common law—its origin, the extent of its application in England, the manner of its transmission to the United States its modifying influences upon the American system of jurisprudence and the importance of a thorough study of its principles We are under the impression that many who bear the character of veterans in the law, would be improved by reading this lecture Mr McCormick has the pamphlet for sale at his book-store, at the price of 50 cents per copy

DAN WATSON'S BENEFIT.—This evening Dan Watson one among the first negro minstrels who ever visited Oregon, and who has few superiors in his line of characters, will take a benefit at Oro Fino Hall A number of old performers and several amateurs have tendered their services on the occasion, among the former of whom may be mentioned J H O Neil, Chas Taylor and Joe Delavan Among the attractions of the bill presented will be a French Trio, (original,) by Sylvania, Watson and Delavan Trial Dance by O Neil and Watson Melodeon Solo by Taylor, Song and Dance by O Neil, Locomotive by "Old Eph," etc The pieces and acts have been cast to bring out the strength of each performer in his own peculiar line Watson and O Neil will be each upon his forte Not less than twelve performers are on the programme, and the company think they will be able to present an entertainment superior to anything of the kind ever offered here.

SCHOOL LANDS.—Mr Atkinson, School Superintendent for this county, writes us the following note.

For the information of Gentlemen, who desire to purchase School Lands, I am authorized by the Agent of the State Board to say that, "The lands will be offered for sale at the county seats and sold to the highest bidder Due notice will be given in the papers of the time, place, and terms of sale, and payment " The terms of payment are not yet fully determined, but they will probably require one-third (or one half) down, and the remainder in installments with well secured notes bearing interest at 10 per cent "Private bids will be filed in their order and the parties informed by letter of the terms of sale in addition to the public notice." The Agent has not informed me whether coin or currency will be received in payment. The lands of this county were valued at coin rates and the report made accordingly.

ESCORTED HOME.—A delegation of firemen from each of the companies in this city, assembled at the house of Multnomah Co. No. 2, yesterday afternoon and escorted the new Vancouver engine to the Fannie Troup, and about twenty-five of them went over with it to Vancouver. The fire company at the latter place, it is said, have made arrangements to give their new engine and its escort a grand reception. We are not informed as to the exercises, but they will, no doubt, be of an interesting and pleasant character—in short, an ovation. The Vancouver company may well feel jubilant at the reception of their engine, for it is a very fine little affair, and the town has, before now, sadly felt the need of it. When the Troup backed out from the wharf here, cheers were given with a will by both those on the wharf and on the steamer. Those who anticipated having a gay old time, and no doubt they have realized their expectations.

ANOTHER OREGON INVENTION.—We are pleased to chronicle another Oregon invention—one that promises to be of general utility to our grain growers. Mr. Davis of Yamhill county last summer invented and operated a combined header and thresher that proved eminently successful. Necessary steps have been taken to secure a patent. Arrangements are now being made at the Oregon Iron Works in this city for the manufacture of a number of these machines. The utility of the invention will be fairly tested in time to bring them into general use in the harvest of this year. The inventor claims that by this method of harvesting, three persons with two horses will cut, thresh and sack, ready for market, twelve to eighteen acres of grain per day, at a cost not exceeding half that of any other process. More particulars will be given by advertisement soon.

THE RAZOR-STROP MAN.—The veritable razor-strop man has come to town and he can be frequently seen on the streets making speeches laudatory of himself and his goods, wares and merchandise, singing songs for the delectation of his audiences, and disposing of a wonderful "paste for razor-strops" which is really a valuable article—unless our eyes deceive our eye-sight. Rubbed on a pine stick to serve for a strop, the grit of the paste imparts a keen edge to a knife or any instrument of the kind with astonishing rapidity. This paste is said to be a California invention—consisting simply of a preparation of sediment from quartz tailings. The grit is represented as superior in sharpness and durability to any of the emery in use. It has become an article of some commercial importance in California.

ODD FELLOW'S VISIT.—About twenty-five of the Odd Fellows of Portland, went over to Vancouver Monday evening to visit the lodge at that place. The lodge went through its regular work and then the company was treated to a supper. The visitors were highly gratified at their reception and entertainment by their Vancouver brethren, and boast that they enjoyed a good old fashioned, sociable time. At a quarter past twelve o'clock, the supper party broke up and the guests returned to this city by the Fannie Troup, which made a special trip for their accommodation. They represent the Vancouver lodge to be in a flourishing condition and working well.

ARRAIGNED.—Antone Henry Kessel the man who killed C. H. Blecke—was brought before the Recorder, yesterday, for examination on the charge of murder. The witnesses living at too great a distance to be procured without delay, the examination was by agreement of counsel, postponed till Thursday the 7th, at 10 o'clock A. M. The Recorder appointed Messrs. E A. Cronin and Cyrus Dolph to defend the prisoner. The prosecution will be conducted by Mr Mulky, the Prosecuting Attorney, and Mr. Hill. Subpenas for a number of witnesses have or will be issued.

IMPROVEMENT OF SWAN ISLAND BAR.—We notice that Col. R. S. Williams of the U. S. Engineers, has advertised for proposals to improve the bar in the Willamette river at Swan Island. The proposition is to deepen the channel so as "to admit, at the lowest stage of the water, of the passage of vessels drawing 18 feet of water—the said channel, of said depth, to be at least 100 feet wide." The city of Portland has all the necessary apparatus for doing this work—why not authorize somebody to offer a bid for the city?

SOLD.—Mr. G. A. Warner, patentee of the flour packing machine which we noticed some time ago, has sold the right to make and vend the machine in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, to Messrs. A. Hurgren and Parrish & Atkinson. The purchasers will before long be prepared to furnish the machine to millers and flour dealers. Mr Warner will go to California by the next steamer and present this valuable Oregon invention to the consideration of the smartest people on the coast.

GRAND LARCENY.—Lewis Castle, a colored man, was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued from the Recorder's Court, charging him with the larceny of fifteen boxes of cigars from the house of E. F. Schrader. A search of his sleeping room resulted in the discovery of nine boxes of the cigars, and two other boxes were found where he had sold them. Four boxes are missing. Castle was lodged in the city jail to await his examination this morning.

BROOM-MAKING.—"A broom factory has lately been started in Portland which turns out one thousand brooms per week. At that rate they will soon drive the California broom out of the market. That business would pay well in this city. Boise valley is better adapted to raising broom-corn than Oregon." The foregoing is from the Boise Statesman. The query naturally arises, why don't the Boise "fellers" go into the broom business?

NOT SAILED.—The Coach from Astoria yesterday brought intelligence that the Pacific was yet in Baker's Bay and the Fidelity at Astoria. The weather was foul, with heavy south-east gales. The Pacific was expected to return to Astoria during the day, yesterday.

JOB PRINTING OFFICE AT SALEM.—The material for a job printing office for Mr. Stinson of Salem, arrived by the Montana. Mr. Stinson was the accomplished editor of the Statesman job office until that institution collapsed. He is going to paddle his own canoe hereafter.

DEPOSITING NUISANCES IN THE STREET.—Two Celestial hombres, called respectively Chung Song and Ah Dun, were complained of yesterday for depositing nuisances in the street. They will be required to answer this morning in the Recorder's Court.

THE RIVER.—As yet the river has fallen but little, being kept up by the Columbia. At noon yesterday, the Willamette had fallen at Salem ten inches in twelve hours. During the previous twelve hours, it had risen about a foot.

SCHOOL FORMS.—Mr. Atkinson desires us to say that he has on hand blank forms, for use of district clerks in making up their annual reports. He desires to have these forms used to avoid imperfections and errors in such reports.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived, per Alert, Feb 5th, 4,321 qr sks flour, 2 bales Oregon City wrapping paper, 3 chests, 1 trunk, 1 pkge socks, 1 coop fowls, 1 bale furs, 41 boxes mdse.

DIRECTOR'S MEETING AND ELECTION.—At a meeting of the Directors of the Oregon Iron Works yesterday, A C Gibbs was elected President and David McCully, Vice President.

THE LECTURE ON SATURDAY EVENING.—We had the pleasure to listen to a lecture from Hon J H Mitchell, at Oro Fino Hall, upon "The Nationality of the United States." The theme, so important and yet so frequently questioned, required a wide range of historical study and a careful examination of principles. One discourse of an hour and a quarter was insufficient to grasp the whole subject. Yet Mr. M. compressed as much of history and of discussion as could be done in the time. His facts were well chosen. Some of his points were strongly presented. The passage in which he described the American people, bearing their wrongs enduring one blow after another, until by the final shot at the flag, they were compelled to rise in their majesty and assert their authority and maintain it, was truly impressive and eloquent. The audience felt well paid for their trouble in coming out on that stormy evening. The difficulty of hearing a speaker in that hall will suggest to other lecturers the need of slow and distinct articulation. We understand that tickets purchased for the whole course will entitle a gentleman to take his wife or lady friend. CITIZEN.

POSTPONEMENT OF SAILING.—The Oriflamme's hour of sailing has been postponed to Thursday at 8 o'clock P. M.

THE IMPEACHMENT QUESTION.—Impeachment of the President is the common topic of the day but we have yet to learn of any one who has ventured to impeach the prices or quality of the clothing sold by Baum Bros

The Supreme Court and the War

From the opinion in full of the Supreme Court of the United States, delivered the other day by Justice Davis, in the Indiana Milligan case, and from the dissenting views of Chief Justice Chase, we are enabled to understand the scope of this decision, and the point of disagreement between the majority (five) and the minority (four) of the Court.

Upon the actual questions involved the judges were unanimous in their decisions—First, that upon the facts presented a writ of habeas corpus ought to be issued in behalf of Milligan, second, that on the facts as stated in the petition of his counsel, he ought to be discharged from custody, and third, (the important question) that upon the facts stated in said petition and exhibits, the Military Commission mentioned therein had no jurisdiction legally to try and sentence said Milligan in the manner and form as in said petition and exhibits is stated. Thus the ground taken by the petition in behalf of the prisoner is affirmed by the entire Court, to wit—that under the Act of Congress approved March 3, 1863, entitled "An Act relating to habeas corpus and regulating judicial proceedings in certain cases," the military Commission under which Milligan was arrested as a treasonable conspirator, tried, condemned to death and held in custody, was illegal and void, these proceedings having taken place in Indiana, where the civil Courts provided by Congress under the Constitution were open and unobstructed, notwithstanding the civil war was then in full blast in other States.

So far the Court was unanimous. But Justice Davis, in the course of his opinion, takes the ground that not only was this military trial without authority in the Act of Congress referred to, but that even "Congress could grant no such power," and that "no doctrine involving more pernicious consequences was ever invented by the wit of man than that any of its provisions (the Constitution) can be suspended during any of the great exigencies of the Government." Touching the power of Congress in the premises, Chief Justice Chase and the three other Judges concurring in his views, hold that Congress, under the authority to raise and support armies, may in times of war, at its discretion "determine in what States or districts such great and eminent danger exists as justifies the authorization of military tribunals for the trial of crimes and offenses against the discipline or security of the army or against the public safety." This appears to be the extent of the disagreement between the majority and the minority of the Court. Upon this point, if the opinion of the Chief Justice is not sound, the Government is at the mercy of any such rebellious conspiracy as that which it has just put down.

We go further, however, than the Chief Justice, although not further than he might have gone, in combatting the opinion of Justice Davis. We hold that the latter in his argument stultifies his argument. He contends, for example, that the war for the suppression of the rebellion was conducted within the landmarks of the Constitution, while at the same time these military arrests and trials of civilians in the loyal States were unconstitutional. They were a great feature of the war, and they have been sustained everywhere by public opinion, from a conviction of their public necessity, harsh as they were in some cases. In the next place, the most prominent facts of the war stand out in bold relief against the obiter dictum of Judge Davis that there can be no exigency in the Government justifying a suspension of the provisions of the Constitution. The late rebellion, in the bombardment of Fort Sumter, was commenced in the absence of Congress, and to Congress alone belonged the power to "raise and support armies." Had President Lincoln, however, waited for the assembling of Congress before acting in defense of the Government in assuming the war powers, in all probability he would have been turned out of the White House by Jeff. Davis and by the rebel army at his back, together with the expulsion of Congress from Washington, before a force sufficient to hold the Capital could have been mustered according to the Constitution. This was what the rebels expected. They could not believe that President Lincoln would dare to assume the constitutional powers of Congress in order to serve the Government; but he did, and in the face of the opinion of his immediate predecessor that Congress itself had no power to coerce a seceding State.

This two-faced opinion of Justice Davis of the Supreme Court is, then, utterly inconsistent with the leading facts of the war, and therefore utterly preposterous. This stultification of the Supreme Court we dare say results from the great blunder of attempting to regulate the war by the old exploded Taney and Buchanan notions of the Constitution. These antediluvian Judges seem to forget that the war was an appeal from the Constitution to the sword, and that the sword is the ultima ratio regum—the last appeal of Kings and peoples. Thus the Constitution has received a new interpretation from the war; but what if the Supreme Court still adheres to the old interpretation? Then it becomes the plain duty of Congress to reconstruct this Court; for even to this extent, sooner or later, the issues decided in that final appeal to the sword will be enforced by the loyal States. This constitutional twaddle of Justice Davis will no more stand the fire of public opinion than the Dred Scott decision!—N. Y. Herald.

The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

The Apple-Tree in the Lane

It stood close by where on leathern hinge
The gate swung back from the grassy lane
When the cows came home when the dusky eve
Its mantle threw over hill and plain
Its branches knotted and gnarled by time,
Waved to and fro in the idle breeze,
When the spring days wove a blushing crown
Of blossoms bright for the apple trees.

Its shadow fell o'er the crystal stream
That all the long bright summer days,
Like a silver thread and the waving grass,
Reflected back the golden rays
Of the noonday sun that madly strove
To drink the fount of the brooklet dry,
But the light clouds showered tear drops down
Till the glad brook laughed as it glided by

Never were apples half so sweet,
Golden russets striped with red
As those that fell on the yielding turf
When she shook the branches overhead
A trysting place for youthful friends
Was the apple-tree in the days of yore,
And oft we've sat beneath its shade
And talked bright dreams of the future o'er

And when the warm October sun
Shone on the maple's scarlet robe,
We gathered apples sound and fair,
And round as our own mystic globe
The stately hemlock crowns the hill
The dark pines rise above the plain--
But the one we prize far more than they
Is the apple-tree in the pasture lane

Long years have passed and cows no more
Come home at night through the grassy lane,
Where the gate swung back on leathern hinge,
I stand and gaze on the far off plain
No more we list to the music low
Of the crystal stream as it ripples on
And the apple tree in the pasture lane
Is but a dream of the days by gone

Social Depravity in Virginia--The "White Haired Sinners of Olden Fame" and their Connection with Daughters of a Variety of Hues and "Questionable Paternity," &c

The iron (and in this form of absorption it is not a tonic) continues to enter the soul of the South Petersburg, Virginia, known in a probably gallinaceous connection as the "Cockade City," is an unfortunate city During the war it was shelled and dug about in a promiscuous manner The scene of Lee's smash up was next door But what seems to be of a more grievous misfortune has visited the place, the nature of which its newspaper (the Express, of date December 14th) shall describe It begins

"It is certainly with no satisfaction that we record instances of social depravity It is only with the design of throwing the weight of our influence against wrong, that we take up the pen to expose the frauds that are daily practiced upon society by impostors who brazenly demand from it the tribute of respect to which gentlemen of true character aspire, with modesty and decorum"

This exordium, it will be observed, conveys no very exciting information But it consumes space, and therefore fulfills its mission. We shall strike more matter and less art in the next paragraph

"It is perhaps well known that there have lived in our community, men of debased habits and character, who have taken a secret delight in bestowing attentions upon inferiors of another race, which they had not the courage to bestow in an honorable manner upon persons of their own color and position. It is also known that the result of this impolitic and beastial intimacy make themselves evident in the retired parts of the city, in the shape of children of a variety of hues, and of what is commonly said to be a questionable paternity.

This is a gem of candor, deceit, subtle induction, and rhetorical stupidity. The candor appears in the admission of improprieties, the deceit in putting them all in the past tense, the subtle induction in the prudently retired location of children of assorted colors, and stupidity in calling it a thing impolitic as a harsh preface to qualifying it as beastial Let us pass on

"At this time there are living in various parts of the city whole families of beings, who, in some instances, make a boast of the predominance of the Caucasian in their blood, and who unblushingly point to white-haired sinners of olden fame as their fathers, and claim equality with the white race upon the faith of the iniquity of their parents. And so proud are they of their one sided pedigree that they spurn the attention of genuine Africans, and, now that they believe the field is open, lay siege to the hearts of white men, and occasionally they carry them by storm. In some cases is the pride of paternity so deep that gushing Aspasias and dark-eyed, olive-hued 'sorceresses of the Nile' have sentimentally strown flowers over the graves of their dead white fathers, who lie buried, in Blandford Cemetery"

Those italics are not ours. We confess we fail to comprehend them. It is very wrong for the semi-Caucasian to point unblushingly to their white-haired progenitors. They ought to get very red about it. The idea of scattering flowers over a father's grave (and he a white man!) is simply atrocious And that a person seven-eighths bleached should spurn the attentions of a genuine African, seems to be as revolting to our Petersburg reporter as to Charles Sumner and Wendell Phillips according to his favorite interpretation of their ideas

"We have recorded in a general way, the marriages of full blooded Yankees in various parts of the State, and as such affairs are of common occurrence among the lowest and basest orders in the North, these isolated instances have been by no means astonishing. In the matter of character, not much is to be considered, for when two contemptible human beings unite their destinies together, it does not matter what may be the particular tint which distinguishes their individuality."

This is a little ill natured, and therefore inartistic. The reporter is getting angry and illogical. Happily, he sees the danger and plunges into his story, the compact preliminary sentences of which we have given above He continues

"But when a man, recognised in society as a gentleman, attaches himself to one of the enemies of society, in the shape of a shameless 'Pariah,' or a designing outcast, there is then full room for comment and great cause for astonishment"

Of course And now let us see who this designing and shameless outcast is, that has forever destroyed the tranquility of Petersburg, and driven its most laconic reporter to write an essay of such an impolitic--no, no, let us not be censorious--not of an impolitic, but beastial, character. But we have already arrived at what he set out to narrate

For a year or two past an octoroon girl, whose white father descended to his grave some years ago 'full of honors,' having brought his honors with him from New England, has attracted the attention of several leading bon vivants as one worthy of their most ardent attractions About a month ago the girl, fancifully called Estelle, was judged by her particular admirers to be ripe for marriage, and some half a dozen of them began at once to lay the snare which was to take her where she wanted to abide--'under a white man's care'

One is known to have offered her a large sum of money for the happiness of taking care of her--'until death,' of course. She refused, and replied that nothing less than marriage and a house and lot would answer the purpose So number one shied off and gave up the chase The second and three or four of the rest, each severally tendered her the house and lot, but could not stomach the idea of matrimony. She was firm in her purpose, and these burning shepherds were at last compelled to abandon the contest for the prize The sixth, a slim, sandy whiskered, lady killing down town merchant, famous for his politeness, and withal to the 'manor born,' being from Yankeedom, promised her all, and had the house built in West Ward, to the south of the Basin, upon a street which, to the best of our belief and recollection, never had a name.

"The house being completed and furnished in gorgeous style--for the gallant young merchant is supposed to have a mint of money and lots of rich friends--he there continued his visits to his charmer She demanded the faithful performance of his other promise namely that he would wed her, but day after day passed and lingered She at last so urged it upon him that, as rumor says, a midnight marriage was concluded, and the act was signed, sealed and solemnized with all due ceremony. Whether this was a mock marriage or not we have no means of ascertaining but it is a matter of common report that the twain live there as man and wife, and the respectable neighbors threaten that, if they do not soon quit that locality they will unite in a public exposition, giving names and circumstances that cannot fail to ruin at least the young man who has thus permitted his passion to get the better of his prudence'

The man with sandy whiskers positively married her What, damnable conduct! Not even to fortify his conduct with a mock marriage! What a bestial wretch! Nay, nay, what an impolitic gentleman! The nativity of the other six felons that wanted to marry her is not given, but, of course, they were all born in Connecticut and have auburn hair on their chins

In conclusion, our reporter turns essayist again and in his calm and steely style reminds one of that breathless night when not even a leaf stirred

"We have endeavored to recite this incident in as becoming a manner as possible with no desire to create a sensation We are impelled to its publication because of its glaring impropriety its hostility to Southern ideas of social philosophy, especially at this time, when the Northern majority would force us to recognize such things as natural and right Evil should be suppressed everywhere and in whatever shape it appears and with this view we shall take pleasure in publishing in full the written statement of the respectable neighbors who are cognizant of all or any of the circumstances"--Cincinnati Commercial.

Judge A A Skinner

The Bulletin's Portland correspondence contains the following in regard to this gentleman, recently appointed a Judge of the Supreme Court of this State

Since my last, Governor Woods has appointed A A Skinner to be a Justice of the Supreme Court in place of R E Stratton, deceased The new appointee will hold the office until September following the June election of 1868 at which election the term which expires in 1870 will be filled by popular vote Judge Skinner gets no new handle to his name by virtue of this appointment, he being one of the earliest judicial formations in Oregon Late in 1846 or early in 1847, he was elected Circuit Judge by the Legislature of the Provisional Government As an inducement for him to accept the position the Legislature was magnanimous enough to increase the salary from $200 to $800 per annum Peter H Burnett now of San Francisco, was the Supreme Judge of the Territory having been elected on the 13th of August 1845 Disgusted that the salary of the Circuit Judge should be made treble that of the Supreme Judge, Mr Burnett resigned. Skinner held the office until the organization of the Territorial Government by the United States in 1846

Judge Skinner is a native of Huron county, Ohio There he studied law and was admitted to the bar Soon after he removed to Putnam county and practiced there until he emigrated to Oregon in 1845 While there, even, he acquired the sobriquet of "Judge" being the unsuccessful Whig candidate before the Ohio Assembly for presiding judge of the Common pleas of that district The party with which he came to Oregon was the first emigration from Ohio to this country There are only two or three of them left One of the best of them, and my earliest friend in Oregon Maj Orville Risley, is a well to do citizen of Portland, and my near neighbor In politics Skinner was originally a Whig, but upon the formation of the Republican party, gave his allegiance to that organization heartily and readily From the fall of 1851 until 1853 he filled the office of Indian Agent in the Rogue River Valley In the summer of 1863 he was the Whig and opposition candidate for delegate to Congress against General Lane, and was badly beaten He was county Clerk of Lane county (his present residence) from 1862 to 1864 and was the candidate of the Republican party for re election, but was beaten by the Democratic nominee

In early life Skinner was a well read lawyer, yet he never succeeded at the bar in this country nor does he seem to have made much effort to He is very modest and retiring and I think dislikes the indiscriminate controversy incident to a successful practice of the profession A good lawyer is not always a good judge, and vice versa The very qualities that made Skinner shrink from attempting to reach the front rank at the bar and eventually to abandon it, will tend to make him a good judge, rather than otherwise. On the Supreme bench, where he can hear a case well argued and take time to consider it, I am much mistaken if he does not prove acceptable to the profession and the people He is a man of irreproachable morals, fine feelings and unquestioned integrity--and withal a little lazy He has good sense and a well balanced mind He is about 50 years of age--was married late in life His locks are as white as snow, but his face--beaming with good nature and sly humor--is as rosy as Bacchus--although a teetotaler. My first introduction to an Oregon wedding and country dance was made under his auspices, in Yamhill county, on New Years' day, 1850 It was a biting cold night--the cabin was constructed on correct hygienic principles--not air tight--but we managed to keep up the circulation by galloping our pretty partners up and down and round the outside until the peep of day, when we mounted our "Tartars of the Cayuse breed," and made for home And this reminds me that Judge Skinner, considered as an Oregonian, is entitled to claim the honor of being of the blue blood of Yamhill In that county he first pitched his tent, and through most of his life that rustic paradise has been his home I am the more induced to make this statement at this time because some irreverent members of the Idaho Legislature have lately indulged in profane and untimely sneers, at that famous nursery of Oregon's great and lucky men. God bless Yamhill! My malediction be upon the rude and vulgar varlets that would speak dispitefully of her May they be compelled to live out all their days in Idaho, and go hence without seeing Yamhill

Political Changes South.

Time is vindicating the wisdom of delay in the reconstruction of the South and the readmission of their Senators and Representatives in Congress It does not concern the people of this Nation nearly so much that Congress force this, that or the other standard of suffrage upon the States, or enact hasty amendments to the Federal Constitution, or coerce States into amendments of State Constitutions obnoxious to the spirit of their people, as it does that those people be given time to meditate upon their actual situation and in some measure forget the asperities engendered by the war, before they are again invited into the Government and reinvested with ruling powers. A willing citizen can always be trusted--an unwilling, angered one, never The condition of political feeling at the South is by no means what it was a year ago This is the testimony of all those most acquainted with the subject Time, interest, reflection and common sense, have toned down the mass of Southerners, and elbowed the Hotspurs off the stage as the ruling power they once were in politics. We do not say that much of this good feeling is not due to the stern, undaunted men in the Thirty ninth Congress in insisting upon the amplest security for the future, but no hasty reconstruction would in our opinion, have produced the favorable results we now see coming about On one side of the restored family hasty reconstruction would almost surely have engendered arrogance, on the other, suspicion, on both, a formidable strife for the balance of power

These conflicting passions are less in the way of amicable adjustment now than ever before, because parties understand each other better, and begin to realize that neither are quite the monsters pictured by excited imaginations in the close presence of terrible battles Sensible men of the North and South now clearly see that the people of the United States are to remain one nation--perhaps for centuries--and such being the case, that it is far better to be cordial and confiding friends, than jarring suspicious enemies.

We think another year's suspense and deliberation would perfect this harmonious feeling so valuable to the future of the country, and so inestimably above hasty political quackeries (which reckon upon force alone as a reliable element in reconstruction), sure to meet with resistance in the States, to be constant fire-brands in Congress, and always liable to annulment by the Supreme Court Even now, while certain conspicuous Congressmen can devise no better plan of reconstruction than one which looks to the destruction of the Supreme Court, in the face of its being a constitutional branch of the Government as much as Congress itself, the people are more rapidly and enduringly reconstructing on the basis of confidence, respect and common interest In spite of quarrels between Congress and the President, and of divergent ideas in the majority of Congress, the work goes bravely on among the people The New York World complains that the South has relapsed into political lethargy and is fearful of its permanent continuance, which would be a National misfortune But what the World mistakes for lethargy is only the returning good sense of the people--a disgust of pestilent demagogues and a high resolve to accept the situation and make the best of it Nor is it true that 'it is much the same to the people whether they are ruled by the absolute will of a monarch" or by what the World calls 'the Northern majority' This is not the sentiment of the Southern people It may have been a year or two ago, but the South is finding out that the Northern majority are as deeply interested in Constitutional restrictions as themselves, though in time of war they may have yielded from that highest of all laws--self preservation--something of the written code to the absolute rule of force

We will venture that the Constitution was never before so well respected by the mass of the people as now--certainly not at the South In the time of war military courts were tolerated, only because war is, as was once clearly explained by John Q Adams, above all laws in conflict with her own So soon, however, as peace returns the military courts vanish, and yet we feel that their continuance would favor the ends of justice in the punishment of a class of offenders who cannot be reached by the civil courts The safety of the Nation is in adhering to the Constitution as it is interpreted by the established authorities The World need not fear that even Jefferson Davis will be unfairly tried, or that he will be denied his thirty six challenges to a panel of forty eight jurors, or punished unless every one of the remaining twelve agree to a verdict of conviction The present lethargy of the South is something on the right track It bodes no ill to anything, and is not more remarkable than the almost unanimous wish of the North that their Southern brethren shall be restored to all their old Constitutional rights--saving only Slavery--as soon as moderation shall qualify them for their enjoyment --Alta California

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER GOSSIP--WHAT IT COSTS TO START A NEWSPAPER --For a new morning newspaper an enormous capital would be necessary Half a million would not be a dollar too much. The Tribune started on one hundred dollars borrowed money The Times absorbed one hundred thousand dollars before it yielded a dividend But these were days of small things compared to the present The cost of every branch has increased prodigiously, and branches of the expenditure now exist which a few years ago were unknown The item of telegraphing alone would consume a fortune, as may be supposed when I tell you that for some time after the opening of the Atlantic cable, its dispatches alone cost the Herald, Times and Tribune one thousand dollars each per week Telegraphing and corresponding constitute a terrible drain upon the proprietor's purse Salaries, too, have taken a jump upward, and the staff is legion

I have said that the name of a morning paper's staff is legion, and a visit to any one of three offices in this city would satisfy you that I do not exaggerate Jot down the list Managing editor, four to six editorial writers, reviewer, one foreign news editor, two domestic, commercial editor and market reporter local editor, and from nine to twelve local assistants, exclusive of phonographers on special occasions The Herald's staff is numerically the largest, the Tribune's the most thoroughly organized, the Times doing its work with fewer hands The Herald enjoys the reputation of being the most liberal to its casual contributors and correspondents, the Times pays its contributors well, furnishes the best law reports, and uses its exchanges diligently, but lacks enterprise in the matter of foreign correspondence The Tribune, on the other hand, is niggardly to its contributors, but liberal to its foreign correspondents of whom it has a most efficient corps The other morning papers, the World, Journal of Commerce and News are conducted more economically the Journal of Commerce being, perhaps the only one that can be called profitable The expenses of the evening papers are light in comparison --Cor Richmond Examiner

JEALOUSY OF CONGRESS TOWARDS WASHINGTON --Yet there remained a deeply seated conflict of opinion between Congress and the Commander in Chief on questions of principle and policy Washington would from the first have had men enlisted for the war, Congress, from jealousy of standing armies had insisted upon short enlistments Washington was anxious to exchange prisoners Congress bore in mind that each British prisoner would resume his place in the army, while the American prisoner from the system of short enlistments would return home Washington wished the exchange conducted on one uniform rule, Congress repeatedly checking Washington by sudden interference required a respect to the law of treason of each separate State Washington would have one continental army, Congress an army of thirteen sovereignties Congress was satisfied with the amount of its power as a helpless committee, Washington wished a government of organized vigor Congress guarded a separate independence, the patriotism of Washington took a wider range, and in return the concentrated public affections radiating from every part of the United States, met in him All this merit and this popularity and the undivided attachment of the army, quickened the jealousy of Congress, and made them more sensible of their own relative weakness They could not have defended themselves against the mutiny of a single regiment They felt that their perfect control over the General sprung in part from his own nature, and that could not be fully judged of before the end Nor was it then known that the safety of the country against military usurpation lay in the character and circumstances of the American people which had life in all its parts, and therefore a common life that was indestructible --Bancroft, Vol IX

Capital Ghost Story

We do not generally give much credence to ghost stories but the following which we find in the Lynchburg News, appears to be so intrinsically reasonable in view of the awful doom which doubtless awaits the wretch who would not swindle an editor that we cannot for a moment doubt its truth The story, as the News, is dedicated in an especial manner, to all newspaper readers That apparitions do not always wander without sufficient cause is proved by the well attested fact which we give below

Last Tuesday night as Mrs ----, (a lady of rather literary taste and studious habits) sat reading in her drawing room the clock on the mantel piece struck twelve! As the last stroke reverberated through the apartment the door was flung wide open In the act of raising her head to repel the intrusion (unrung for) of her servant her eyes rested on the form of her late husband! she screamed and fell senseless on the carpet This brought up such members of the family as had not retired to rest, restoratives were administered and when Mrs ---- had regained her suspended faculties, and being a woman of strong mind and highly cultivated intellect, she felt disposed to consider the whole distress she had undergone as the result of certain associations between the melancholy tale she had been perusing and her late loss operating on a partially deranged nervous system She however considered it advisable that her maid servant should repose in her chamber lest any affection should distress herself and alarm the family Last Tuesday night, feeling stronger and in better spirits than she had been for several months past, Mrs ---- dispensed with the presence of her attendant retiring alone to her chamber, and went to bed a little before ten o clock Exactly as the clock struck twelve she was awakened from sleep, and distinctly beheld the apparition she had before seen, advancing from the table (on which stood her night lamp) till it drew opposite to and drew aside the curtains of her bed She describes her very blood retreating with icy chilliness to her heart from every vein The countenance of her beloved in life were not its benevolent aspect the eyes once beaming with affection were now fixed with stern regard on the trembling, half dissolved being who with the courage of desperation, abjured him thus, 'Charles! dear Charles! why have you come again?'"

'Jessie," slowly and solemnly gasped the shadowy form, waving in his hand a small roll of writing paper, "Jessie, pay my newspaper accounts, and let me rest in peace"

THE NEW YORK SUB TREASURY --The "radical majority" as some of our amiable cotemporaries denominate Congress, are after the funds They want to know, very foolishly, perhaps, what is being done with the public moneys--why the gold balance is always increasing in New York, notwithstanding the stringency of the money market and whether any money has been sold or loaned, and if so, how much, to whom, and for what purpose! That is a legitimate inquiry, and if what we months ago heard be true, the facts, if they can all be reached, will develop some interesting abuses It was stated that the Secretary of the Treasury, by and with the advice and consent of the President, had sold at a high figure some seventy to ninety millions or a large sum in gold, and by and by, when the metal became lower replaced it, realizing some millions by the operation, and that portions of these millions so made found their way into several of the States for the purpose of corrupting legislators or others, and bending them to the Presidential will--and the report went so far as to say that some of this money reached Oregon for the purpose of re-electing Nesmith to the United States Senate, and that other sums of it reached Nevada for the purpose of defeating Nye Well, Nesmith was not re-elected and Nye is not defeated But as we were saying, this investigation may prove an interesting one, and may have something to do with the impeachment case for one of the charges against the President is that he has corruptly used the public property --Sacramento Bee

This is to certify that I, John E. Jodwan, was blind for over nine years, and I tried all means of a cure, and and many doctors, and all of no effect, and I spent all the means I had. Finally, I had to become a county charge, and when I was taken to Dr G W Brown, and stated my case to him, and misfortune, he at once commenced to treat my eyes, and now I am well, and commend all those that are suffering with diseases of the eyes to call on Dr G W Brown. The reason why I do this is to let suffering humanity know where they can be cured

I do this to let those who are suffering with diseases of the eyes know where they can obtain a cure It has been three years since her eyes were cured, and they are yet sound

This is to certify that I was blind for over four months, and almost blind for one year and a half, I tried several eye doctors but received no benefit, I had almost given my case up as hopeless when fortunately I heard of Dr. G W Brown, now of Salem. I was induced to try him; he performed a surgical operation on my eyes, and gave me treatment I soon began to recover, and in a short time I was perfectly cured. I do this in justice to one who rescued me from a fate worse than death, and also for the benefit of those who are laboring under similar afflictions that they may know where they can get relief It is now about eight months since my eyes were cured and they still remain good. L. JAY S. TURNEY,

HAVING LEASED THE ABOVE NAMED HOTEL, is prepared to accommodate the traveling public, and ONE HUNDRED REGULAR BOARDERS, in as good style as any House on the Coast He has determined to make the Bennett as good as the best and better than any public house in Salem He will soon complete some important improvements, which will add greatly to its appearance and comfort and intends to merit and hopes to receive his share of patronage

He has secured the services of "Charley" (known to be the best cook in Salem and one of the best in the whole country) and other competent persons to manage the culinary department, and is resolved to set as good a table as can be found anywhere--not in clap-trap pomp and show flummery and fine furniture, but in an abundant supply of the very best the market affords.

His Bar-room will be kept warmed and lighted, and well supplied with newspapers, periodicals and other suitable reading matter, and kept in a manner which will make it an agreeable resort

In short he intends making an effort to please ALL who stop at the BENNETT HOUSE And he most respectfully requests his friends everywhere to give the old and well known stand at least one more trial before concluding they can do as well elsewhere and promises if they are not well treated and properly cared for, and at reasonable figures, it will not be the fault of the public's most obedient and most humble servant,

THE OYSTERS
PACKED BY
Louis M'Murray & Co.
OF BALTIMORE,

ARE ACKNOWLEDGED BY THE ENTIRE SAN Francisco jobbing trade to be beyond comparison the best that come to this market. That

THEIR EXCELLENCE IS NOT IMAGINARY,

Any one who has tried them will admit, and the simple secret of their superiority lies in the extreme care and minute expense lavished upon their preparation Each Oyster is opened by hand with the knife with strict regard to the preservation of the Liquor, by which all the original flavor is retained Contrast this method with the one usually pursued of opening the Oysters in bulk by steaming by which means the native Liquor is lost, and a manufactured one is substituted and the reason for the actual superiority of this brand is at once apparent

TO THE UNFORTUNATE
NEW REMEDIES, NEW HERE.
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from diseases absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid state thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians friends, attend to those who are suffering from any of these horrible life-destroying maladies and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians in Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to a radical and permanent cure or make no charge

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells Fargo & Co
